About

ethcon Korea is a non-profit conference for Ethereum developers organized by community volunteers. We do not speak for a specific organization or group's agenda and aim to ramp up the Korean open-source developer ecosystem.

Although there are a lot of Ethereum communities in Korea and South Korea has played an important role in the ecosystem, the Korean dev community has had difficulty in sharing their studies with others due to the lack of suitable outlets.

About

Therefore, following the precedent of the Python community organizing Pycon Korea successfully for several years, the Korean Ethereum community kicks off the first community-driven conference for Ethereum developers to meet the community demand.

More than 500 Ethereum developers are expected to participate in this conference and a variety of open-source, blockchain projects will gather in one location at Coex.
